Types of Pickleball Play (all locations)

Open Play--loosely organized by the players themselves. Players arrive and leave the court venue as they wish. When four players are done with a game, those waiting should be invited to rotate onto the court. Being respectful, friendly, and allowing all to participate is the key to making this type of play work. All players of all skill levels are welcome.

Round Robin (RR) Play—structured play run by a coordinator who organizes and runs the pickleball session. A session typically lasts about two hours and games are typically timed (12-13 minutes). After each game, players switch courts, partners and opponents based on how the coordinator has chosen to organize the session. Round Robins may specify required skill levels for participants.

Tournaments, Lessons and Clinics—several organizations offer opportunities to participate in competitive play through tournaments or further skill development through lessons and clinics. These opportunities are promoted through organizations' websites or social media.
